

WHEATLAND'S WIFE MAKING BRAVE FIGHT

Wins Father's Aid—Friends Say That He Is Mentally Unbalanced.

RESULT OF ACCIDENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 14.—The wife of Philip Wheatland, former Boston chairman and relative of many distinguished Boston families, has been making her fight for the custody of her child, and is now in a desperate struggle, one of several which she is alleged to have sustained.

After many appeals to her husband, father, Major Wheatland of Salem, Mass., who told her friends that he had incurred his attorney to represent her, she has been obliged to sue for the custody of her child.

The story of the fight is one of the most interesting in the city. Wheatland is a man of great wealth, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and intelligence. They have a child, a girl, who is now in the custody of her father.

Wheatland's friends here say that he is a man of great wealth, and his wife is a woman of great beauty and intelligence. They have a child, a girl, who is now in the custody of her father.

GIRLS DRAW THE COLOR LINE AT FRANKLIN SQUARE HOUSE

Young Texas Woman Declares She Won't Live There if Colored School Principal Stays.

The color line has been drawn by some of the young women guests at the Franklin Square House because Miss Ida Shepard, the colored principal of the Agassiz grammar school in Cambridge, has been allowed to engage a room there.

Miss Shepard is a young woman of color, and she has been engaged to live at the Franklin Square House for some time.

"That's Damned White of Andy."

Epitaph which Andrew Carnegie prepared to have carved on his tomb.

TSRHING, Sept. 14.—"That's damned white of Andy." This is to be the epitaph carved on Andrew Carnegie's tomb. The millionaire Scotchman declares in all seriousness that this expression the sentiment he likes, and he will insist on his wishes being carried out.

IN LOWELL FOR 8-HOUR DAY

Printers' Demand for Shorter Workday Meets Setback in Spindle City.

BIG STRIKE IN CHICAGO

LOWELL, Sept. 14.—A general strike of printers in the book and job trade of Lowell has been called today because of the refusal of all firms last one to grant the demand of an eight-hour day by the International Typographical Union.

The first against which a strike is ordered is the "Courier-Citizen," which is owned by the "Courier-Citizen Company," (C. I. Wood Company, Union Printing Company, F. A. M. Tobin and Lawler Printing Company).

One Firm Meets Terms.

The Bookland Printing Company has signed a two-year agreement with the union that eight hours shall constitute a day's work.

About fifty printers are employed by the companies against which a strike has been ordered. It has been many years since there has been serious trouble between the Typographical Union of Lowell and the employers, but the union men are determined this time to be in line with other unions in the city.

A special meeting of the union is to be held early today, at which plans for the strike will be considered.

The Lawrence employers have not as yet given consideration to the demands of the Lawrence union for the eight-hour day. The union men are determined to obtain their demands, and no strike is expected.

Strikers in New Haven and Chicago.

Dispatches from Albany say that the strike at that city has been ended through the yielding of the Albany Argus to the union demands.

A struggle between the Typographical Union of Lowell and the employers is on. About 500 printers are on strike. They will not set out until the employers give in. The union men are determined to obtain their demands, and no strike is expected.

The New Delicatessen

for October

More than ever the Fashion Magazine of the world, The Delicatessen's October number marks the beginning of a decided change—or series of changes—in its Fashion News, in its illustrations, in its "make-up" and in its printing.

It contains more pages devoted to Fashions and Dress Topics than any two other magazines.

Its Special Reports of New York and Paris Fashion News are the exclusive contributions of Helen Berkeley-Loyd and M. Edouard La Fontaine, the two recognized world-authorities on Styles.

Its fashion plates, beginning with this number, show no less than five distinctly different forms of illustration—the work of artists who have no equal anywhere in their respective methods of delineation.

One of the most noteworthy of innovations is the printing of sixteen of the fashion plates in two colors—in addition to the regular full-color plates.

Next month this color feature will be even more in evidence. The Delicatessen has always given the most in quality and in quantity for its subscription price—it is now giving more—much more—than ever.

For example, 20 pages of Juvenile Fashions in this number with illustrations by Carl Kleinschmidt, Anna Burnham Westermann and others.

Besides the Fashions—and the Household Departments which have made The Delicatessen famous—some features among the many deserve special mention:

EXCITING CHASE
FOR THIEF: SHOT

Policeman Fires Twice In Air and Then Wounds Fugitive
In Leg On Street.

CROWD JOINS PURSUIT

By the prompt action of the clerk at the Hotel Royal, on Court street, and Patrolman Harry Hickey, who was passing, a thief was captured early today near Court and Hanover streets after an exciting chase. The thief, who was dressed in a suit, attempted to escape by running to stop the fleeing thief, but as he paid no attention to the shock, the policeman, who was following him, lost as he was about to reach the corner.

The thief gave his name as William Henry, and was aged as nineteen. He found himself in a predicament on May 5, 1905, when he was walking on the street, and led him into the hotel, where he engaged a room. He was engaged for some time, and after being gone for some time suddenly disappeared and dashed through the hotel doors to the street. The clerk, observing that something was wrong, gave chase shouting "stop thief."

THE MAGNIFICENT RESTAURANT

The dining room on the fifth floor has probably occasioned more enthusiastic comments during these opening days than any other part of this great establishment. It is not only Boston's finest eating place, but it is also one of the few spots in this city where a young girl or lady may dine unattended with perfect propriety and safety.

THE SERVICE AND FOOD ARE OF THE BEST

And prices are right. During the opening rush, there may have been some annoying delays. We fed almost five thousand people the first day, but now everything is running smoothly.

THE DECORATIONS OF THIS ROOM

Are superb, and the colors are exceedingly pleasing. Its high ceilings and handsome marble columns, light woodwork and effective panels, painted by famous artists, make this room one of the most delightful spots in Boston.

THE MAID-OF-THE-MIST FOUNTAIN

Is one of the most talked of features in the store, being located in the center of this magnificent dining room and in itself a work of art and originality.

PART OF THE RESTAURANT IS FOR MEN

And in this section smoking is permitted and many of the business men of Boston have found that this is a most convenient place for the noon meal away from the noise of the street and amid such pleasing surroundings.

OUR MAMMOTH GROCERY SECTION

This department, covering half of the vast fifth floor, is the finest appointed grocery store in New England. Its elegant booths of quartered oak, stained to a rich tone of Venetian green are the talk of the thousands of visitors. This great department is truly Boston's "Spotless Town," where absolute cleanliness reigns, all the loose groceries being kept in dust-proof receptacles or in the immense refrigerators, cooled by the latest improved brine process, the latter being used for dairy products, fresh fruits and delicatessen.

50 DEMONSTRATIONS OF LEADING FOOD PRODUCTS

Are being held in booths throughout the floor, where samples are to be had and practical cooking lessons are given. Among the other notable features are the dairy counter and the Tea and Coffee section. Both of these are the handsomest of their kind in the world.

THE GROCERY ORDER ROOM

Occupies the front and lightest part of the floor, and is a most convenient arrangement, where our patrons may sit in comfortable chairs at the tables and leave their orders with the clerks in attendance. One entire section is devoted to Wines and Cordials, where the best of Imported and Bottled goods are sold for family trade at prices which will astonish the connoisseurs.

THE MAIL ORDER AND TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Which extends throughout the entire store, is especially applicable to the grocery department, giving everyone wherever located the advantage of the low prices here. Phone 2600 Oxford.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE ENGAGED GIRL

DON'T show that you are overjoyed at your engagement. In fact, you should be so composed that your friends will wonder if you are not a little bit disappointed.

And it is quite the same. Show a girl in delight when the man she loves proposes, she offers to be his wife, and she is not to show that she is overjoyed at the prospect. She is to be so composed that her friends will wonder if she is not a little bit disappointed.

There is one other reason for appearing so composed. Every girl knows from experience and from the fact that she is engaged to a man who is not a perfect specimen of manhood. She knows that she is engaged to a man who is not a perfect specimen of manhood. She knows that she is engaged to a man who is not a perfect specimen of manhood.

This is how she would celebrate her engagement, if she did not stand in fear of what the neighbors might say.
